Subject evaluations

15.053, Optimization Methods in Business Analytics

Selected comments from students.

- Phenomenal instructor! Fun, knowledgeable and approachable.

- One of the best parts about his lecture style is constantly related everything we learn to practical application. This keeps lectures engaging and interesting.

- Very engaging lecturer, really useful in-class exercises. Demonstrated very thorough understanding of the material and seemed to really care about doing a good job teaching the class.

- Thank you for an awesome semester! You were very helpful with the project and during your office hours! You are clearly interested in the material and really want students to learn.

- My favorite professor ever.

- This class was awesome! The material was well-taught, interesting, and very applicable. Definitely one of my favorite classes that I have taken at MIT!

- Also, lecture notes were so well done that they were a fine substitute for coming to lecture.

- Favorite class that I have ever taken at MIT. Super practical and applicable. Gives the ability to understand real world problems.

- This class is very applicable to all majors, which is great!