

21w.789 Communicating with Mobile Technology

Assignment 3: Hello World

Due: 25 Feb, 2014

This assignment will ensure that you have your development environment configured and can successfully build and deploy an application to your phone or tablet. We want to ensure that you're ready to go that you can start on your semester project and not lose time later in the term getting the basics in place.

Create an application that displays the text "Hello 21w.789" and has a button. When this button is pressed, the text should change to "Goodbye 21w.789"

Install this application on your group development phone and show it in class at the end of your presentation.
