

Welcome Travelers!

I hope that your voyage to the Quest Coast was without peril. In my time, I've gone on many an exciting journey to many a wondrous realm – I envy you the travels you have in store! The fantastical world is so full of wonders and marvels, so full of miracles and delights – to think of it crumbling away to nothing is almost more than my heart can bear. Keep your wits about you as you travel from land to land, and hopefully you can find what you're looking for to help save all of Bookspace!

Godspeed to you all,

Antoninus
