AMPERSAND
CONCERT SERIES
A night of music, film, and art
Ampersand challenges musicians to add visuals to their sets. Each performance is a unique audio/visual experience.

Saturday, May 12, 2018
7:30pm doors | 8:00pm music
$3 for MIT | $5 for public
MIT ACT Cube (E15-001)
20 Ames Street, Cambridge, MA

Earprint
is a four-part chordless creative collective with an aggressively melodic, shamelessly youthful approach to making music. A chordless quartet—free of the confines of piano or guitar—has a uniquely open, stripped-down sound, perhaps most often associated with Ornette Coleman’s quartets or the Gerry Mulligan/Chet Baker group of the early 1950s.

Adam O’Farrill
is a Brooklyn-bred trumpeter and a “rising star as a player and composer”. O’Farrill comes from a rich musical legacy of Afro-Cuban composers, Grammy winners, and pianists. He has performed with Mulatu Astatke, Vijay Iyer, Christian McBride, Samora Pinderhughes, Onyx Collective, and JIL.
