Have you received your PhD after September 30, 2008? Would you like to enter your thesis in an International Award competition? Prizes of EUR 15000 (1st), EUR 7000 (2nd) and EUR 3000 (3rd) await the winners.

Quadrant Award 2011

For the 4th time, Quadrant will confer the coveted International Award for Academic Excellence in the field of «Materials and processes related to engineering and high-performance plastics and composites». The competition is open to graduates who have written a doctoral thesis in the subject field and have received a PhD in the period from October 1, 2008 to September 30, 2010. An academic jury of international experts will evaluate the entries.

Suggest to your professor that your thesis be submitted. Detailed information is available on our website – www.quadrantaward.com. Applications must be received by September 30, 2010 to be considered.

Applicants nominated by the jury for the shortlist will be invited to present their papers prior to the awards presentation ceremony to be held at the Semper Aula of the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology (ETH) in Zurich on Saturday, January 22, 2011. Timely notification will be given of further details. Legal recourse is excluded. We look forward to receiving your application.
