Career Planning Group For PhDs

Do you ever find yourself wondering?
- “What do I really want out of my life, my PhD and future jobs?”
- “What do I want out of a career?”
- “How do I talk about my research to a non-technical audience?”
- “How do I even go about networking and making external connections?”

If you have answered YES to any of the above questions, you might be a good candidate for the Career Planning For PhDs program

Description:
In these four 2 hour group sessions, we will cover essential career planning competencies such as self-assessment, communication, business etiquette and networking. Participants may gain awareness of what skills, interests and values you want to use in your work and expand your knowledge of relevant resources and tools that will hopefully help you when you are seeking full time employment upon graduation.

*PLEASE NOTE: This course does NOT cover direct job hunting skills, such as creating or editing CVs/resumes, salary negotiation, etc. The focus will be on self-exploration, career decision-making, and expanding your knowledge of resources to help you after completing your PhD.

Space: Space is limited. Only 14-16 PhD students will be accepted

Dates:
Wednesday May 15, 10am-noon
Monday May 20, 10am-noon
Wednesday May 22, 10am-noon
Wednesday May 29, 10am-noon

*PLEASE NOTE: it is mandatory that you are able to attend ALL 4 sessions.

Time: 10:00am-12:00pm

Timeline: Applications are due by Thursday, May 2nd. Decisions will be made and applicants will be notified by Thursday, May 9th.

Best wishes - we look forward to receiving your application!

Natalie Lundsteen, DPhil, Assistant Director, Graduate Student Career Services, GEC
Marilyn Wilson, PhD, Associate Director, Career Counseling & Education, GEC

Marilyn C. Wilson, PhD
Associate Director, Career Counseling & Education | MIT Global Education & Career Development
77 Massachusetts Avenue | Rm. 12-170 | Cambridge, MA 02139 | 617-258-9149 | mcwilson@mit.edu