

Syllabus for Chinese V (Streamlined) 21G.113 Fall 2017

Course Description

This course is designed for the pre-advanced level of the streamlined curriculum, which is intended for students who, when they began the streamlined sequence at beginning and intermediate levels, had basic conversational skills gained, typically, from growing up in a Chinese speaking environment, but lacked a corresponding level of literacy. The focus of the course is on learning standard usage of more sophisticated expressions than those of daily life topics, on reading in both traditional and simplified characters, and on writing. Since the class will be conducted extensively in Chinese, students are required to preview texts according to the lesson plan and be fully prepared to participate in class activities. Students are required to check the course website regularly for class updates and information. In addition, this course aims to consolidate students' formal conversation skills, improve fast reading skills and expose students to various writing styles.

Streamlined V— each section is limited to 16 students for pedagogical purposes. Pre-registered students have priority. Continuing students get first priority, followed, in order, by students in 21G.076, declared concentrators and minors, sophomores, freshmen, juniors, seniors, and graduate students. Pre-registered students who did not show up for the first two days of class without warning will be eliminated. Students beginning their studies of Chinese language at MIT above the elementary level must contact the Chinese instructors for a placement test. No auditors allowed.

Academic Integrity

Please visit the MIT Academic Integrity Handbook website and read through the information carefully to prevent unintentional violations: <http://integrity.mit.edu/>

"MIT assumes that all students come to the Institute for a serious purpose and expects them to be responsible individuals who demand of themselves high standards of honesty and personal conduct. Cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, deliberate interference with the integrity of the work of others, fabrication or falsification of data, and other forms of academic dishonesty are considered serious offenses for which disciplinary penalties can be imposed."

You are expected to finish the writing assignments independently, without using online translation applications such as Google Translate, or receiving help from family and/or friends for translation assignments, compositions, etc.

Note on Disabilities

Students who feel they may need an accommodation based on a disability should contact the instructor privately to discuss their specific needs.

Evaluation

The grade for this course will be based on the following:

D = 66.9-63

D- = 62.9-60

F = below 60

1. Class participation is very important to your class performance. You will be graded on your feedback to your classmate's presentation and comments in each class. If you don't talk, you will not get the score for the day.
2. Attendance and promptness is assumed; more than three unexcused absences (a week's worth) lowers your grade one letter; significant lateness will add up to absences. Absences will count as excused ones only if you provide a doctor's note or a note from your academic advisor to the instructor.
3. Other factors may come in to play, eg improvement versus stagnation or deterioration over the course of the semester, and progress relative to starting level.
4. There are NO MAKE-UPS for tests. If you cannot make the tests or quizzes on time, you should talk to the instructor to make arrangements for you to take the test before your classmates do. If you are late for the class and miss quizzes, you are allowed to make it up at the end of the class three times only during the semester.
5. There is No final examination this term.
6. Homework handed in late will be corrected and will receive half credit.
