Reciprocal Admission for MIT Museum and Historic New England

CAMBRIDGE, MA - The MIT Museum and Historic New England are offering reciprocal admission during June 2007. Present this coupon for complimentary admission to any of 36 historic properties - including the modest dwellings of the first settlers, merchants' mansions, collectors' homes, and an icon of mid-twentieth-century modernism. Gropius House, the home of Bauhaus founder Walter Gropius in Lincoln, Mass., will be of particular interest to lovers of architecture. Casey Farm in Saunderstown, R.I., a certified organic farm with a community sustainable agriculture program, will appeal to the environmentally aware. For a complete list of historic sites, programs, directions and hours of operation, visit www.HistoricNewEngland.org.
