

MIT SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING BUSINESS CLUB

presents...

The Entrepreneur's Showdown

Come watch 4 real business pitches to see what it takes to start your own company!

Date: Tuesday, March 31

Time: 6:00 - 8:00 PM (Plus dinner at Legal Seafood with the entrepreneurs afterward, e-mail geng0610@gmail.com to RSVP)

Location: 4-237

Want to know what it takes to start your own company? Want to see what a business pitch looks like? Join us for a set of presentations to find out what the latest entrepreneurs are pitching to venture capitalists. From students like you who have gotten funding for the idea to established venture capital firms, this is an event you won't want to miss.

Featuring:

- Jeremy Sher, Director of Business Development from Grassroots Giving Group
- Sam White, Co-Founder of Promethean Power Systems
- Kevin Wang, Senior Associate at General Catalyst Partners
- Elizabeth Page and Michael Snively, Developers of Electro-Plushies with Barry Kudrowitz, instructor of Toy Design

RSVP required only for the dinner afterwards, submit a request (with a resume if you have it) to geng0610@gmail.com!
