The disbursement of federal Title IV funds will be used in full to pay all federally allowable charges (tuition, fees, room and board) for the current semester.

Under federal regulations, any credit balance over the allowable charges must be refunded to the student within 14 days after disbursement, unless the student requests the credit balance to be held on the student's account for the duration of the loan period.

In addition, if a credit balance appears on a student account and is the result of a personal payment, a student may leave this credit on the account to pay for future fees during the current academic semester.

By signing below, I authorize MIT Student Financial Services to allow the credit balance to remain on my account until the end of the current academic semester.
