

Jonathan Lehrich

Associate Director

MIT Leadership Center

Jonathan Lehrich works closely with students, faculty, and practitioners to develop leaders who make a difference. He is responsible both for the day-to-day operations management of the MIT Leadership Center and for its education and product development initiatives. Before coming to MIT, Jonathan taught leadership development and management skills for the corporate education firm Linkage, Inc., where he also served as Executive Director of Operations. Jonathan holds an MBA from the MIT Sloan School of Management (2005), an MA from the University of Chicago (1991), and an AB in History magna cum laude from Harvard University (1990).