FOREWORD

HE 1928 Gray Book is herewith respectfully presented to the public by the Board of The 1925 Technique, in many, many ways changed from its predecessor, the 1927 Gray Book, which was the first of its kind at Technology. In accordance with its policy of continual improvement from year to year Technique has done this.

There are probably quite a few unavoidable errors due to collection of information from many and various sources, and for these the Editor can only apologize and hope they will not cause too great inconvenience to the users of the book.

The Gray Book this year is planned principally as a service to the Freshman class and the Institute and not as a money-making proposition. The Technique Board sincerely hopes that this object will be fulfilled and so, with best wishes to '28, offers this book.

ACTIVITIES

O THE first-year man at Technology, the various activities afford a wonderful opportunity to supplement his technical engineering training with real companionship and good-fellowship. As the Technology man passes onward to the upper classes and as he finds his place in the business or professional world, he will realize the value of these close associations of his college days. Invaluable experience is also to be gained along literary, business, managerial and other lines of work, experience which will be of great value to him later. It is every freshman's duty to the Institute, as well as to himself, to turn out for one of the various activities, because, to a great extent, it is these activities which determine Tech's standing in the public mind.

Voo Doo. Voo Doo, at present being one of the leading college humorous publications, it is incumbent upon students at the Institute who have the least ability to draw or write humorous material to compete for places on the Voo Doo staff. The publication, with a monthly circulation of nearly five thousand copies, is a good demonstration of the fact that engineering students are capable of depicting the comic side of our existence. Offering great opportunities to the capable freshman, Voo Doo asks his support.

T. C. A. The Technology Christian Association aims to be of strict practical benefit to all Institute students. No membership fee is charged and membership is open to all Institute students. The T. C. A. is an opportunity for the first-year man who has any inclination or ability along the line of public service.

Tech Show. The Tech Show, a product of the dramatic ability of the Institute students, presents its twenty-seventh annual production this year. The show has been so enthusiastically received at every place it has gone that its regular schedule now includes presentations at New York, Hartford and Northampton as well as several performances in Boston. It takes the form of a musical comedy written, arranged and produced by Institute students, guided by professional coaches.

T. E. N. The Tech Engineering News, as the monthly official professional journal, contains articles of scientific and professional interest, written by prominent alumni and other engineers, in addition to containing the results of original research conducted in the Institute laboratories. The Business, Editorial and Publicity Departments are open to those who show ability along those lines. T. E. N. has made a special study of office management, and the results, incorporated in an Office Manual, will be of value to all candidates.

M. I. T. A. A. The M. I. T. Athletic Association, made up of the managers and captains of the varsity teams, along with its own officers, supervises the athletic interests of the Institute. Competitions for the various managerial positions are opened from time to time as the seasons begin, a process of elimination, based on ability, determining the one who will be elected as manager later on. Sports at the Institute are expanding and this organization is a chance for those who have not the requisite ability to make the teams, but who can do management work join in the expansion.

Technique. Technique, which appears during Junior week in the third term, is the year-book of Technology and as such, contains detailed information and pictures of all the events of the year. The gathering and publishing of these statistics offers a large and interesting field of endeavor and the business side of the organization gives opportunity for excellent experience in the financial and advertising line. The Technique

Board also supervises the publishing of the Freshman Gray Book each fall.

The Tech, as "the official undergraduate newsorgan of Technology," has been published for forty-three years and at present consists of a four-page five-column newspaper published three times a week. Competing first-year men can select any one of the News, Business, Editorial or Publicity Departments. Elections are held at various times during the school year, at which time those men showing ability are advanced. Work on The Tech means an excellent chance to get out and meet men of importance in and around the Institute.

Musical Clubs. These organizations, consisting of the Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs and the Dance Orchestra, are some of Tech's most successful activities. All of these, except the Dance Orchestra, which is but three years old, have been in existence a great number of years, and have made a strong reputation for themselves and for the Institute. Music should have a place in everyone's existence, and the Musical Clubs are the place for harmonically inclined Institute men.

THE STORY OF FIELD DAY

HIELD DAY is one of the few student customs at Technology and in important one. This annual struggle between the Freshmen and the Sophomores started back in 1886 with a football game between the classes of '89 and '90, which the then Freshman class of '90 won. They were so loud in their expressions of joy that the Sophs, maddened by defeat, rushed at them seeking vengeance. A cane was secured by the Frosh and held aloft as a challenge. A lively battle ensued until the second year men captured the stick. This was the origin of the once-famous Cane Rush. Each succeeding interclass football game was followed by a similar Rush, though for several years there was strong sentiment against it. By 1890 the Rush was firmly established, and was thereafter conducted in a more orderly manner.

In 1891 another issue was introduced, namely, a contest to get the class flag up on the flagpole and keep it there. On account of the dangerous practices which it introduced, such as winding the pole with barbed wire, it was done away with after 1894.

The last Cane Rush was held in 1900 and in 1901 came the first real Field Day with a football game, a tug-of-war, and a relay race. In 1918 a crew race was introduced, and these four events comprise the contests of Field Day as it is today.

It is the exception rather than the rule for the entering class to win Field Day, as out of the twenty-three contests held, the Freshmen have won only six, which goes to show that it can be done, though the odds are pretty heavily against it.

The athletic events of the day do not furnish all the excitement by any means. Many a man has found all the fun and fight he wants in scrapping for arm-bands and banners, even the co-eds sometimes holding a little tussle of their own for possession of them. Mascots come in for their share of attention, said mascots ranging from antiquated flivvers to real tin-can-eating goats. And then, after the hardworking athletes have settled the matter of superiority, comes the traditional snake-dance of the victorious class over Harvard Bridge, an event that is guaranteed to jam traffic for an hour at least.

Field Day now means much more than it did thirty years ago. Then, it was a more or less unbridled riot; now it is a series of organized athletic contests which bring out real sportsmanship.

ATHLETICS

THE Institute is an awfully dead place unless the student can find something to do besides study. There are two choices — activities or athletics. The activities have been outlined on the preceding page; the following paragraphs will give a general idea of the scope of Technology sports.

Track. The greatest sport at the Institute at the present time is Track. Probably this is due to the fact that practice for the various track events is solely individual. For this reason it is possible for the Freshman to do his training whenever he has a spare hour or two. Because all Freshman schedules are not the same, the hours for training come at different periods-Thus, it is possible for more new men to receive individual training at the different hours during the day than could be done if all the candidates reported for work at the same hour. Another reason for the supremacy of Track over other sports is the excellent system of individual coaching, which is the secret of making a good track man. A good body, intelligent coaching, and plenty of practice are enough to make a good track man out of any Freshman.

Crew. It will probably be due to the activities of its crew that Technology will take a high place in the ranks of college athletics. The showing made by last year's crews has caused the attention of the sport world to be focussed upon the Institute, and undoubtedly the record made this year will cause Technology to rise high among the leading crews of the East. The opportunity for the Freshman to enter this sport is unlimited. The Field Day Crews this year have had the benefit of excellent coaching from Bill Haines and staff and unlimited chances for practice. With the new boathouse and rowing machines, it is possible for practice to continue throughout the winter. It will be from the Freshmen that the majority of next year's Varsity Crew will be chosen.

Swimming. Again, it is from the ranks of the Freshman Swimming Team that the places on the Varsity Team will be filled. This year practice will again be held in the pool of the Boston Y. M. C. A., and the Freshmen are fortunate to have as their coach "Nip" Marsh, captain of last year's team, and holder of Intercollegiate and Technology swimming records. A schedule of meets with the leading schools of the country has been arranged and there is an excellent chance for the Freshman Swimming Team to add further laurels to Technology's credit.

Tennis. A much greater interest is being shown this year in Tennis than has ever been shown in this sport before. The courts around Walker are still available, though a bit seedy, and work is being rushed on the new concrete courts the other side of Massachusetts Avenue, so that they will be ready for the men as soon as the snow is off the ground in the spring.

Hockey. Hockey will be given a chance this winter to flourish as never before. The rink made by flooding the tennis courts back of Walker will be supplemented by a specially designed rink in back of the main buildings. With this new rink and with the excellent coaching that will be available, the Freshmen should develop a strong team this winter.

Soccer. After much waiting, the demands for a soccer field separate from the regular football field have been heeded. On the land recently purchased by the Institute, work has been started to build an excellent new soccer field. With this addition, Soccer, which has always been popular, is likely to become one of the greater sports at Technology in the next few years.

Basket Ball. When the new basket ball court in the hangar was built, basket ball at the Institute took a turn for the better. Freshman Basket Ball has always been a popular and well-supported activity and offers an excellent opportunity for the man so inclined to get in some early work towards getting a berth on the Varsity Team.

Monkey Drill. For those who cannot or do not go out for the regular teams there is the course in Physical Training which must be taken by every male first-year student. This is not an extra burden, but is rather a blessing in disguise, as it helps to keep one's body in condition to keep up with the rather stiff studies. These requirements for regular exercise have been designed by a group of men who are familiar with the needs and conditions of the Freshman class, for the sole purpose of making life, in the long run, easier for the student.
