Freight Transport 30 Years Later

From the Basement of Building 1

To the Real World of

Ton Miles/Profits/People/Government

Dr. Craig Philip
MIT PHD' 80
President and CEO
Ingram Barge Company

Friday, May 8, 2009
Mezzanine Lounge, W20-307
Refreshments provided at 12:00 pm
Lecture at 12:30 pm
ctl.mit.edu/lunchtimelectures
CTL Lunchtime Lectures: a distinguished speaker series

Freight Transport 30 Years Later
From the Basement of Building 1
To the Real World of
Ton Miles/Profits/People/Government

Speaker
Dr. Craig Philip
MIT PHD ’80
President and CEO
Ingram Barge Company

Where & When
Friday, May 8, 2009
Refreshments served at 12:00 pm
Lecture begins at 12:30 pm
Mezzanine Lounge, W20-307
Stratton Student Center
Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Biography
Craig Philip is the President and CEO of Ingram Barge Company, one of the nation’s largest domestic marine businesses. He has had a life-long passion for transportation that began as an undergraduate engineer at Princeton followed by a PhD at MIT in the 1970’s. His career has focused on how rapid changes in telecommunication and computing technologies and deregulation of freight transport, converged on this centuries-old, but still essential, segment of the nation’s economy. In addition to his more than 20 years with Ingram, Craig worked for Conrail and Southern Pacific Railroad.

Craig has been active in the industry and served in leadership positions with the American Waterways Operators, the National Waterways Conference, the Transportation Research Board, the Marine Board, and the first Federal Marine Transportation Advisory Council.

Today, Craig is providing support for mariners through service on the Boards of the Seamen’s Church Institute, the Coast Guard Foundation, and industry advisory committees at Northwestern, Princeton, Vanderbilt and the University of Denver. He also serves on the boards of several nonprofit organizations in Middle Tennessee, including the Red Cross, The Tennessee Repertory Theatre, Youth Life Learning Centers, and Franklin Road Academy.

ctl.mit.edu/lunchtimelectures