Call for Papers

The 14th Time-Resolved Vibrational Spectroscopy Conference, to be held May 9-14, 2009 at The Inn and Spa at Mill Falls in Meredith, New Hampshire, is accepting submissions for oral and poster presentations. TRVS features the latest developments in vibrational spectroscopy to study time-dependent processes in chemistry, physics, biology, and materials science. The topics featured are:

- TRVS in molecular biophysics and photobiology
- Dynamics of liquids, solids, interfaces, and nanostructured materials
- Multidimensional vibrational spectroscopy: IR, Raman, and THz
- Single molecule vibrational spectroscopy
- Chemical dynamics and charge transfer studies
- Theoretical and computational spectroscopy

Invited Speakers: Mischa Bonn (AMOLF), Minhaeng Cho (Korea Univ.), Dana Dlott (Univ. Illinois Urbana-Champaign), Thomas Elsaesser (Max Born Inst.), Michael Fayer (Stanford Univ.), Hiro-o Hamaguchi (Univ. Tokyo), Gilad Haran (Weizmann Inst.), Robin Hochstrasser (Univ. Penn.), Richard Mathies (UC Berkeley), Shaul Mukamel (UC Irvine), Yasuhisa Mizutani (Osaka Univ.), Sandy Ruhman (Hebrew Univ.), James Skinner (Univ. Wisconsin), Richard van Duyne (Northwestern Univ.), Sunney Xie (Harvard Univ.), Martin Zanni (Univ. Wisconsin).

Hotel reservations, registration and abstract submission on conference web site from Oct. 1, 2008.

Conference Site: The conference facilities and housing are on the shores of Lake Winnepesaukee in the beautiful Lakes Region of New Hampshire. The location features quick access to the water and mountains, in addition to a full service spa on site. Reduced rate rooms will be available for junior scientists that register before Mar. 7.
