Sarah: Got subsidy for Senior Ball, cheaper ticket without drinks, and students can go to S^3 in order to access the subsidy for low income students to go to Senior Ball. This is only a bandaid solution, but longterm we want to create a ticket fund for students to access events across campus. Hopefully, it will be simplified based on certificate. Harvard makes students go to the ticket office, but I think it’s better if it’s more anonymous. Meeting about that longterm plan in about two weeks. New budget process will be beginning shortly. Instead of money just appearing in people’s accounts, the UA, GSC, and Class Councils will present budgets in order to see how much money each group actually needs. This will be supervised by an overseeing board. We can hopefully get each of these groups to pitch in a little bit to the ticket fund. Finally, I’m working on creating a low-cost grocery store staffed by students (campus job) that would have fresh fruits and vegetables as well as other basic necessities. The price will be at cost or very near to cost. The store will hopefully be as close to Mass Ave as possible (can’t share specific locations). The low-cost grocery store will potentially also be able to act as a discrete pantry for students who struggle with food insecurity. Grocery store, not snacks, but ingredients to make nice meals.
