"That will be all for now, Miss Carbo."
WHAT keeps a man's mail full of dinner, tea, dance invitations? More than any other one thing, the ability to talk well ... to amuse a dinner partner ... to chat gracefully with diplomats, faculty intelligentsia, visiting Englishmen, and old ladies from Dubuque.

Vanity Fair is the social minded young bachelor's best friend. It keeps him informed on whatever is new in le monde ou l'on s'amuse ... the new plays, books, music, films ... the new conventions in bridge, motor cars, golf, tennis ... the new trend in well-bred men's clothes ... the modern taste in art, fiction, and modes of thought. Every month it picks out the high lights ... so that you can recognize what's being talked about by any group of sophisticated people, and contribute to the discussion intelligently yourself.

Vanity Fair, $1 ... and read it not merely for amusement, which you will get anyhow ... but as part of your education in the ways of the cultivated world at the moment.

THE GIRL WHO WALKED DOWN HEMENWAY STREET WITH A WEDDING RING
HANDICAPS
A One Act Play in the One and Only Back Bay Garment Shop

Time: The present. 11:30 Tuesday night. The one and only store supplying ladies' unmentionables. Purveyors to Back Bay's elite young ladies.

Scene: The small store is devoid of customers, and the two female attendants are rearranging the pretty pink and blue dainties on the supports prior to going home.

Enter a young man, rather well dressed, yet showing the effects of a hard evening. His tie is awry, hair mussed, and many creases in trousers and coat.

A look of disgust is written on his face. Addresses first young lady.

Man: "Got any ladies' bloomers?"

Clerk: "Certainly. What size?"

He: "Don't know. Let's see some."

She goes behind counter and pulls out a box, takes out a nice pink pair and holds them up.

She: "Will these do?"

He: "I guess so. I'll take 'em. Got any more?"

She takes out another and last pair in the box. Holds them up again and starts elaborating on their fine elastic, etc.

He: "Fine. I'll take them. Wrap 'em up. Got any more?"

She goes poking around counter and finds another box. Opens box and starts to display another dainty pair.

He: "Good. I'll take that box full if I may. Wrap them up. Got any more?"

When she starts for another box a worried look crosses his face, but just for an instant.

Clerk rummages around behind counter for some time, finds more, and goes to store room. Comes out with three more boxes.

She: "I'm afraid this is all I have. Would you care to see them?"

He (a broad grin passing over his face): "No, don't bother, just wrap them all together. How much?"

She, while wrapping, starts calculating mentally, gives up, pulls pencil out of hair and calculates on box. Announces result as $27.32.

He passes her three tens and looks well satisfied.

He (as he takes bundle): "You are sure you have no more?"

She (calling to manageress): "Sue, there ain't no more bloomers 'cept those that were on left shelf?"

Sue: "Sure not. All those gone?"

She (mumbles): "Yea."

He starts to go out and gets as far as the door when the girl who waited on him calls to him:

"Say, mister, wouldya mind telling me just what you want with all them bloomers?"

He (about to close door from outside): "Burn 'em. I hate the godam things!"

Alpha: "Is your apartment house noisy?"

Stude: "Noisy! It's worse than a 'talkie'!"

Fraternity House: A place to hold dances and change clothes in the morning.

He: "Do you believe in free love?"

She: "Sir, my standing is strictly amateur."
Important people are closely watched by their enemies. Take Mussolini, for instance. Many an assassin keep stab on him.

Could an Indian with a suppressed desire be called a hankerchief?

She: "Do you really love me or are you just fooling?"

THE LOWDOWN
Here lieth ye dapper remains of ye flapper,
Whose ways were so racy and rough—
She made her abode down on Audubon Road,
And God! How that kid knew her stuff!
She died with her shoes on; I'll give you the news on
The ending of this baby's life;
She tried—she could not get a Harvard man hot,
So she ended it all with a knife.

"Oh, Mister Yinfif, come quick! Your wife's fallen in the well!"
"Thass all right—don't worry about it—we're using city water now."

"What were those painted weapons they used to commit suicide with?"
"Wha-at?"
"It says here, 'He fell upon the green sword'."
THE STORM

Without a moment's warning the typhoon swept down upon the great liner, tossing it before its fury like a toy. Giant waves swept the decks bare of all that was lying loose and, breaking against the high superstructure, battered through wood and steel to flood the chart room. Doughty seamen endeavoring to make fast the slamming doors were hurled into the angry waves to disappear at once. Terror spread among crew and passengers alike. Suddenly the distracted master heard a still small voice. "Oh, Captain! Please autograph my travel book."

Father: "If I had known you were in Back Bay last night I would have come after you."
Precocious: "No use, Dad; she didn't have a sister."

SUNRISE SONG

"Let's dew it!"

"Yes, his neck was broke."
"Ah, the woman always pays."

Cop: "I suppose you're waiting for a street car?"
Joe Peterboro: "Not a chance—I've gone far enough for one night."

Alley cats are definitely known to avoid Back Bay because of the great abundance of shoes that are not in use there.

"No back torque, now," said the physics prof as he cranked his Ford.

Garbage Man: "Hey, mister, have you got any garbage?"
Mr. Henpeck: "Come around later when my wife is here."

One nice thing about living in Back Bay is that if one chances to forget which apartment is his it really does not matter.
"Weren't you embarrassed when you spilled that gold paint all over your hair?"

"Well, it was hardly embarrassment—more of a gilty feeling."

The Lowdown on a Few of Our Contemporary Schools

TECH:
A word or two in praise of good old Tech,
Where men with books and instruments do grovel;
We Tech lads have no time to hunt good "neck;"
When others play at "spooning" we must shovel!

RADCLIFFE:
At Radcliffe I have raised a little hell,
But on the whole those girls don't care to play;
Darn few will have a dirty tale to tell
Their Harvard husbands on their wedding day.

WELLESLEY:
If you can pierce the haughty, snoopy mask
Used by all Wellesleyites to guard their souls from fire,
These broads will give you anything you ask—
At least, it's there for hire.

HARVARD:
As for the world's joke college,
It's not as bad as it's painted.
The tea-hounds acquire some knowledge,
He's drunk! Hell, no, he's fainted.

SIMMONS:
These pure maids at Simmons are no "time"
For men with passions fierce and strong, like ours;
They think that holding hands is just a crime—
I'll swear my date had on red flannel drawers.
He: "Let's rest awhile at my apartment!"
She: "Not now; I'm too tired."

After all, are we not but fat little bears, hibernating during these long winter months? No, Mr. Bones, we are not little bears, because well-regulated bruisers open their cubby little eyes after their long snooze and take a hand in the goodies and bounties of life for some part of the twelve months anyway.

> The sinking white dome is covered with dust,
> But sturdy and staunch she stands;
> The little toy teachers continue nonplussed,
> And their pupils are snoring in bands.

Undoubtedly, the under-graduate activities do have their lull in winter. If so, we're certainly having a lull of a good time now. According to authoritative indices, the time gamma curve for popular lulls shows a seasonal fluctuation of about 25%. Oh Kay, Professor Hairchin, but how come we all done got such an awful loop in the trajectory right now?

The under-graduate activities have been lull-abying for the past year and a half. Watsa gonna be dun? In spite of all sorts of publicity stunts every one of the activities at present has a dearth of material. Not only are the operating personnel depleted, but the under-graduate support of the final products of the activities is miserably weak. Going on at length decrying the low state of affairs is evidently not the highest form of constructive criticism. From the activity standpoint, we have tried everything within the realm of logic. Since no logical results have accrued from our logical endeavors, we logically conclude that there must be some foreign influence neutralizing all our efforts. That foreign influence is the devastating menace over there in yon Greek style assembling plant. Some unholy peril is casting a sinister atmosphere around Buildings one, two, three, four, five (six not completed, seven not completed), eight (nine not completed), and ten.

Who are we to place a finger on the virus? Who are we to theorize on panaceas and immunology? Who are we—(see Bradstreet's). If we had a department of morbid psychology, maybe they would know—maybe not! At any rate, can't the forward-looking Mr. Nickerson relieve the enviable Professor Gow from a few of his obligations to the Humanics Course, and let him romp quizzically into the problem of watsa da mat? Can't he? Well, now you ask one.

Phosphorus delights in recognizing merit. The following men are elected to positions of Assistant Editors: John F. Crowther, Robert H. Baker, and Earle F. Anderton.
"Did you hear about that dog trainer down the street getting arrested yesterday?"

"No, no, tell me quick, what was he accused of?"

"Housebreaking, of course."

"I've rung this doorbell for hours, and my girl won't answer."

"Make a noise like an iceman."

"She: "It's pretty late, shouldn't you be getting along?"

"He: "It's about time you changed your mind."

Tourist: "How do you get out of this Back Bay district, anyhow, young feller?"

VI-A: "Well, lots of 'em goes down to Gainsborough Street and passes out quietly."

Detective: "No one is to be allowed to leave the scene of the murder!"

A small individual slides toward the door.

"Hey, where you going?"

"Oh, I was just going to run down to the coroner."

If everybody who understands the new theory of relativity were laid end to end, he'd feel like an awful damn fool.

"Is this a dress rehearsal, Mister Carroll?"

"No, keep your shirt on, sister."

A PAIR OF SOCKS

Last week at Prom I chanced to see the sweetheart of all of my dreams. Her hair was raven, her lips invited with a crimson command, her dancing was exotic. And last of all, her eyes! Her beautiful eyes were limpid pools, jet black, smiling through long, curling lashes. She winked and, unable to resist, I rushed to her table. Now mine are black, too!
The Coward

She lay quietly on the bed, looking at him with appeal in her eyes—those wide eyes, so unafraid, so inviting. He returned her gaze, not without passion, and arose from the cushioned divan on which he had been reclining.

“Oh, beloved,” he whispered, “do you really want me to do this thing?”

She, in her demure fashion, said nothing. The magic of her eyes became, if possible, a bit more alluring, more compelling. Her breathing became more rapid.

He remained standing for a minute, as if torn between two choices. He seemed about to relax in his upright demeanor, and to rush to her to perform that which she craved above all else, and which even so stern a man as he admitted was very vital.

Her soft, virginal bosom rose and fell with quickening rhythm. A low, thrilling moan escaped her lips.

He was unable to forestall this critical episode, evidently.

Seeing this, he advanced toward her, leaned over her and caught her in his arms. Her hands caressed his cheek and entangled themselves in his hair. Slowly, gently, his hand crept downward and seized the bottom of her skirt.

Then, at the last minute, a wave of compunction swept over him—a chilling effect, which damped his ardor, cleared his brain, and made him see that this thing was impossible. He tore himself from her.

Lifting his head, he called out down the stairs, “Mary, will you come up here and change the baby?”

“Were you present at the wedding?” asked the guest.

“Yes, I took a hand in the matter,” answered the groom.

She: “Is Back Bay expensive?”
He: “Silence is golden!”

One: “And they gave the bride a shower?”
Two: “Yep.”
Three: “Well, I’ll be censored!”

“And why didn’t you like the girl? Did her conversation smack of the lewd?”

“Naw, she talked too dirty.”

“Am I nearly there?” he asked.

“You’re getting warm,” she replied.
SWEAT SHOPS
You've heard how a chap bought a laundry
And ended by losing his shirt;
But here's one concerning a tailor
Whose wife caught him pressing a skirt.

"Dick is dead."
"How come?"
"We both loved Jane."
"Well?"
"We met on a curve one night."
"Well?"
"The curve belonged to Jane."

_Cop:_ "Don't you see that red light? It means stop."
_Motorist:_ "I'm sorry. I didn't understand you. I live in Back Bay."

COLD FACTS
"It's a plain case of murder, Holmes," said Dr. Watson thoughtfully. "The iceman killed his wife with two fifty-pound cakes of ice. He was caught, so to speak, red-handed."

"Zounds, Watson, arrest the man at once for carrying concealed weapons," said the great detective, reaching for the needle, as he noted a hole in his sock.

_Judge:_ "You are charged with impersonating an officer—what have you to say?"

_Defendant:_ "Your honor, I didn't know the young lady was married."

COMPLETE LUBRICATION DESIRE UNDER THE "EL"
ARE YOU A MISFIT?
And Why You Are, Voo Doo Helps to Answer

Directions: To be administered while standing on head. If you have a majority of yeses you are in that group. Find your key number by a combination of the numbers of the groups which you are in.

GROUP 1
1. Have you a suppressed desire to be a sailor?
2. Do you often go to bed between one and two?
3. Do you fall asleep after three?
4. Do knocked knees irritate you?
5. Should a married woman accept gifts from the iceman?

GROUP 2
1. Have you a 20-in. slide rule?
2. Do you often feel inspired to step on your prof’s face?
3. Do you know where everything is and can you put your hand on it?
4. Are you a man of parts?
5. Why haven’t you committed suicide?

GROUP 3
1. Have you ever sat on a wall?
2. Do you think goldfish live in sin?
3. Do stray dogs follow you around?
4. Have you ever cracked a safe?
5. Do you know what comes next?

GROUP 4
1. Would you lie to the operator to get your nickel back?
2. Do you back out in a tight squeeze?
3. When you visit a girl do you feel at home?
4. Would you go crazy in a round house?
5. Do you slam revolving doors?

Key Number 0
No count.

Key Number 1
You’re a flash in the pan; besides, there’s a button off your vest. Keep your ego well inflated; if necessary, get yourself Vulcanized. You’re just like your father, you dope; but buy yourself an Indian suit and go feather your nest.

Key Number 2
You are a Course VI man and have a will of your own which your father has safely filed away. You will marry a Radcliffe girl and will probably be a success selling cigars in the subway. Save your coupons carefully and do not let your wife suppress your desire to buy firearms. Why haven’t you committed suicide?

Key Number 3
Try again.

Key Number 4
Go wash your face and then see a doctor. If he says it’s hopeless, subscribe to The Tech and pass out quietly amid soft music from official announcements and typographical errors.

Key Number 1-2
You have dandruff. This will handicap you while at Tech. You can compensate by wearing woollen underwear or bright ties. Your desire for a good time is strangely mixed with your desire for scientific knowledge. For your own good, stop going around with the Ferris wheel; you are being watched.

Key Number 2-3
All combinations which total 5 or 6 will have to wait. We are all out of those sizes.
She: "Do you believe in necking?"
He: "It's better than nothing."

Key Number 3-4
You are in the wrong pew, you skunk. Buy a pencil-sharpener and stop practising on your banjo. Your designs against the faculty show you are a misfit. Don't forget actions speak louder than words, and daydreams never get you ahead.

Key Number 2-3-4
Keep your shirt on—you have hair under your arms. Your desire to be a chorus boy will never be fulfilled. Your ability to attract stray dogs places you definitely as a Course XV man, and as a graduate you will achieve success as a clerk in a radio store.

Where there is life buoy there is soap.

... BECOMES A KNIGHT OF THE BATH

Master to Collie Pup: "Never darken my floor again!"

There was a young man from Me.
Accustomed to drinking champe.
But he got some bad liquor,
Grew suddenly sicquor,
And swore, "By God, never age."

"So you studied electricity in Northern Africa, eh? Triple E?"
"No, Algeria."

THE SCEPTIC
This Cruel World

Kind Old Gentleman: "And what are you crying for, my little man?"

Little Man: "It's my b-b-brothers. Th-they won't leave m-me alone."

K. O. G.: "Well, now, that's too bad. And how many brothers have you, my little man?"

L. M.: "T-t-twenty, sir."

K. O. G.: "Twenty brothers! Is it possible?"

L. M.: "Y-y-yessir."

"When my girl began acting high hat I asked her to please take off her brassy air. Now she won't even speak to me. I wonder—"

K. O. G.: "And have you any sisters, my little man?"

L. M.: "N-n-no, sir."

K. O. G.: "Most extraordinary! Twenty brothers and no sisters! And they keep picking on you, do they?"

L. M.: "Y-yessir. They m-make me do all the work."

K. O. G.: "And are they all older than you are, my little man?"

L. M.: "Y-y-essir."

K. O. G.: "For shame! I'll speak to these brothers of yours and tell them a few things."

L. M.: "Oh, no! Please don't, sir. What would they think of me? Really, you can't, sir."

K. O. G.: "Well—if you say so. All the same—"

And the kind old gentleman goes on his way, muttering to himself, while the newest brother runs back to his duties at the Xi Xi House.

He wouldn't marry her because Her figure was displeasin'.

But when her dress caught on a nail—
The poor guy lost his reason.

First Brick Layer: "And what did you do when you stepped on her toe?"

Second Brick Layer: "I was positively mortified."

Chaperone: "Tsk, tsk, young man, and my, my! Drinking like that! I can see your finish, all right."

XVI: "The hell you say, lady; I'm a Swede."
EVEN though the gent who wrote "The Prisoner's Song" had the soul of a poet, his innate longings to fly were temporarily biased by the fact that he was in the jail-house.

And yet, his idea was sound—not to say ripe—to fly to one's loved one. We say "one" because we never know who reads this, and we are nothing if not discreet. But ONCE you put down the $3,250, you can fly anywhere. See if we care.

For however we may try to disguise it, our mission is to sell the COMMAND-AIRE plane. Of course we realize we can't sell you all today; a certain few are bound to say, "Come around tomorrow."

But nevertheless, we insist on telling you about the COMMAND-AIRE plane. Did you ever hear of a plane where the pilot can leave the cockpit, straddle the fuselage and have the plane continue its flight undisturbed?

We have photographs proving the COMMAND-AIRE plane will do that. It is an aileron feature that gives complete control at stall speed, whether in the air or landing.

When you add to absolute stability the power of motors varying from 90 to 150 H. P.; sheer beauty; and integrity of workmanship of a custom-made job, you'll wonder how we can price the COMMAND-AIRE at $3,250 f. o. b. Little Rock.

But we can; we're funny that way. Write for booklet and watch for demonstration at the University.

HEARD ON THE DANCE FLOOR
She: “Isn’t the floor slippery this evening, Fred?”
He: “No; I polished my shoes tonite.”

—Black and Blue Jay

“A modern girl, my son, is like a re-built automobile.
The same old chassis all worked over.”

—The Cajoler

“Why, Paul, what are you worried about? Aren’t you a big shot in the perfume business?”
“Humph! I don’t know where my next scent is coming from!”

—The Satyr

The choir boy was coming down the aisle swinging the censer. The bishop noticed that no smoke was coming out, so when the boy passed him he chanted:
“Wher-re is the incense pot?”
He was somewhat taken back when a shrill treble answered:
“In-n the vestry; too damn hot!”

—The Pup

We had heard of the girl that they called Arrow because she quivered before every beau, but just met the one called Sprinter because she was fast on every lap.

—The Pup

“Where-have you been all my life?”
“Gettin’ wised up for you.”

You can make your basket after college, too

Is it so different after all—this world beyond the campus gates?
Men in industry have their baskets to shoot at. They have their scores to make. Not on regulation courts, perhaps; but what of that? The principle is the same.

The five man Varsity becomes the five thousand, or fifty thousand, man industrial organization.
Not one opponent, but dozens, press in on all sides. From colloidal solutions to coordination of personnel, from electronic phenomena to fundamental commercial trends, the battle goes on.
Plenty of chances for the man with the mental training to match his wits against the questions of the day!
Flip: "There's a dance going on in here."
Flop: "What's a dance?"
Flip: "Oh—sort of a pet-together meeting."

"Suffering tripe! I had some time with those two school teachers last night."
"What was the trouble?"
"Well, one had no principal and the other had no class."

"What makes people walk in their sleep?"
"Twin beds."

Austere Aunty: "Young man, don't argue. I knew you when you were but a wicked father's eye."

Art: "I'd like you to paint a portrait of my late uncle."
Artist: "Bring him in."
Art: "I said my late uncle."
Artist: "Bring him in when he gets here, then."

CHICAGO is a wonder city. It has grown like the proverbial mushroom—prairie giving place to pavement and tall buildings rising on every side.

The Otis organization has contributed in no small degree to this amazing record of growth. In keeping with the fact that "most of the famous buildings of the world are Otis-equipped," Chicago's major commercial structures reflect the trend toward safe and speedy Vertical Transportation with maximum safety.

State Street, Broadway, Picadilly—every famous street throughout the world—is lined with buildings wherein Otis Elevators are giving daily service in a safe, trouble-free manner—concrete examples of this company's determination to build nothing but the best—and the best is none too good to bear the world-famous Otis trade mark.

have you thought of Art Directing
as a Profession?

In this modern age of business it is but natural that new opportunities should arise. One of these is the profession of art directing which has been developed probably to its highest degree in the advertising agencies.

The competition in excellence of advertising has led to specializing in this field which employs the directing of graphic arts to make advertising more effective. It is a new profession. Very few men have been engaged in it more than fifteen years, but it is well established and the rewards are sufficient to attract men of first-rate creative talent, taste and judgment.

We believe young men with a talent for the graphic arts can shape their college courses toward preparation for this work. If you are interested, we should be very glad to send you a letter on the subject, and to a limited number who may wish to prepare themselves, we can offer the opportunity of joining our staff upon graduation.

David: "Hezemiah, have two thousand calling cards printed for me this morning."
Hezemiah: "Egad, two thousand?"
David: "Yep. Have to call on the Solomons tonight."
---

Professor: "It gives me great pleasure to give you sixty in English."
Student: "Why don't you make it ninety and have a heck of a good time?"
---

"Two tickets, please," said an elderly lady.
"Seats in the center?" questioned the sleek youth in the box office.
"Well, I never," said the old lady, and slapped his face.
---

"Hello, little freshman boy, wotcha doing?"
"Git along, lady, git along. I'm remembering my promise to my mother."
---

"Won't you wear my pin? I want you to be mine forever. I may not be on the football team like Jake Smith and I won't have as much money to spend on you as Smith would, but honey, I love you more than any girl I've ever met."
"I love you too, sugar, but where is this Smith fellow?"
---

"So you played in that South Sea picture?"
"Yea, I had them out in the Isles at Honolulu."

The better high schools and other preparatory schools in the United States offer adequate preparation for the required entrance examinations given by the College Entrance Examination Board in June, or by the Institute in September.

Graduates of colleges or of scientific schools of collegiate grade, and in general all applicants presenting satisfactory certificates showing work done at another college corresponding approximately to at least one year’s work at the Institute, are admitted to such advanced standing as is warranted by their previous training, and are given credit for our required subjects, including the entrance requirements, so far as they have been satisfactorily completed.

The Summer Session, extending from June to September, includes most of the subjects given during the academic year, and in addition special courses for teachers.

ANY OF THE FOLLOWING PUBLICATIONS WILL BE SENT FREE UPON REQUEST:

How to master the Piano in ten sensible lessons
How to master the Tenor Banjo in five sensible lessons

Teach yourself. Do it in the shortest time possible. By note, without those "nerve-racking, heart-breaking" scales and exercises

Here's How!

The "Hallmark Self-Instructor" is the title of this marvelous method. Eight years were required to perfect this great work.

The entire course (with the necessary examination sheets) is bound in one volume. The first lesson is unsealed, which the student may examine and be his own "JUDGE AND JURY." The latter part of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" is sealed.

Upon return of any copy of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" with seal unbroken, we will refund in full all money paid.

The "Hallmark Self-Instructor" is attractively bound in an ARTCRAFT cover printed on Catanbury Indian wove, eighty pound book, size 9½ x 12½. Illustrated throughout with artistic hand etched drawings.

Mr. T. Robinson Dawley is the author. His methods have been approved by the New York State Board of Education and endorsed by the New York Times. His coterie of pupils represents men and women from all walks of life.

PAUSE AND REFRESH YOURSELF

ONE SOUL WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT—
TO PAUSE AND REFRESH HIMSELF
AND NOT EVEN A GLANCE FROM THE STAG LINE.

Enough's enough and too much is not necessary. Work hard enough at anything and you've got to stop. That's where Coca-Cola comes in. Happily, there's always a cool and cheerful place around the corner from anywhere. And an ice-cold Coca-Cola, with that delicious taste and cool after-sense of refreshment, leaves no argument about when, where—and how—to pause and refresh yourself.
