“War on Terror?”
What you haven’t been told about U.S.-based terrorism against Cuba

Professor Noam Chomsky: Noted Scholar, Author & Linguist
Michael Avery: President of the National Lawyers Guild
Salim Lamrani: Editor of Superpower Principles: U.S. Terrorism against Cuba

Exactly 30 years ago, on October 6, 1976, a Cuban plane was blown up in mid-air killing all 73 people aboard, including the Cuban junior fencing team. This was the first terrorist attack against a commercial airliner. Do you know that the perpetrators of this crime are living in the U.S. and have never been prosecuted? Why not? Join us to hear about the on-going hostilities against Cuba, including the case of Five Cuban anti-terrorist fighters who are imprisoned in the United States.
