33rd Annual Conference on Maturing Young Scientific Theories: Emerging Resolutions for Yielding Heuristic Unphysics using Noncomputation Techniques

Important Info

- Make sure to get a registration packet after the plenary. We also have a conference bag courtesy of our generous sponsors.
- If you have problems with room reservations, please let us know ASAP.
- Please make sure your contact information is correct, as we will be sending announcements throughout the weekend.

Rules

- If we assigned you a room through the schedules office, you are not supposed to sleep in it.
- Make sure you clean your room after you leave – if you do not do this the Hunt will not get any rooms next year.
- If you think you're being instructed to do something illegal or unethical, contact us for clarification.

Most important

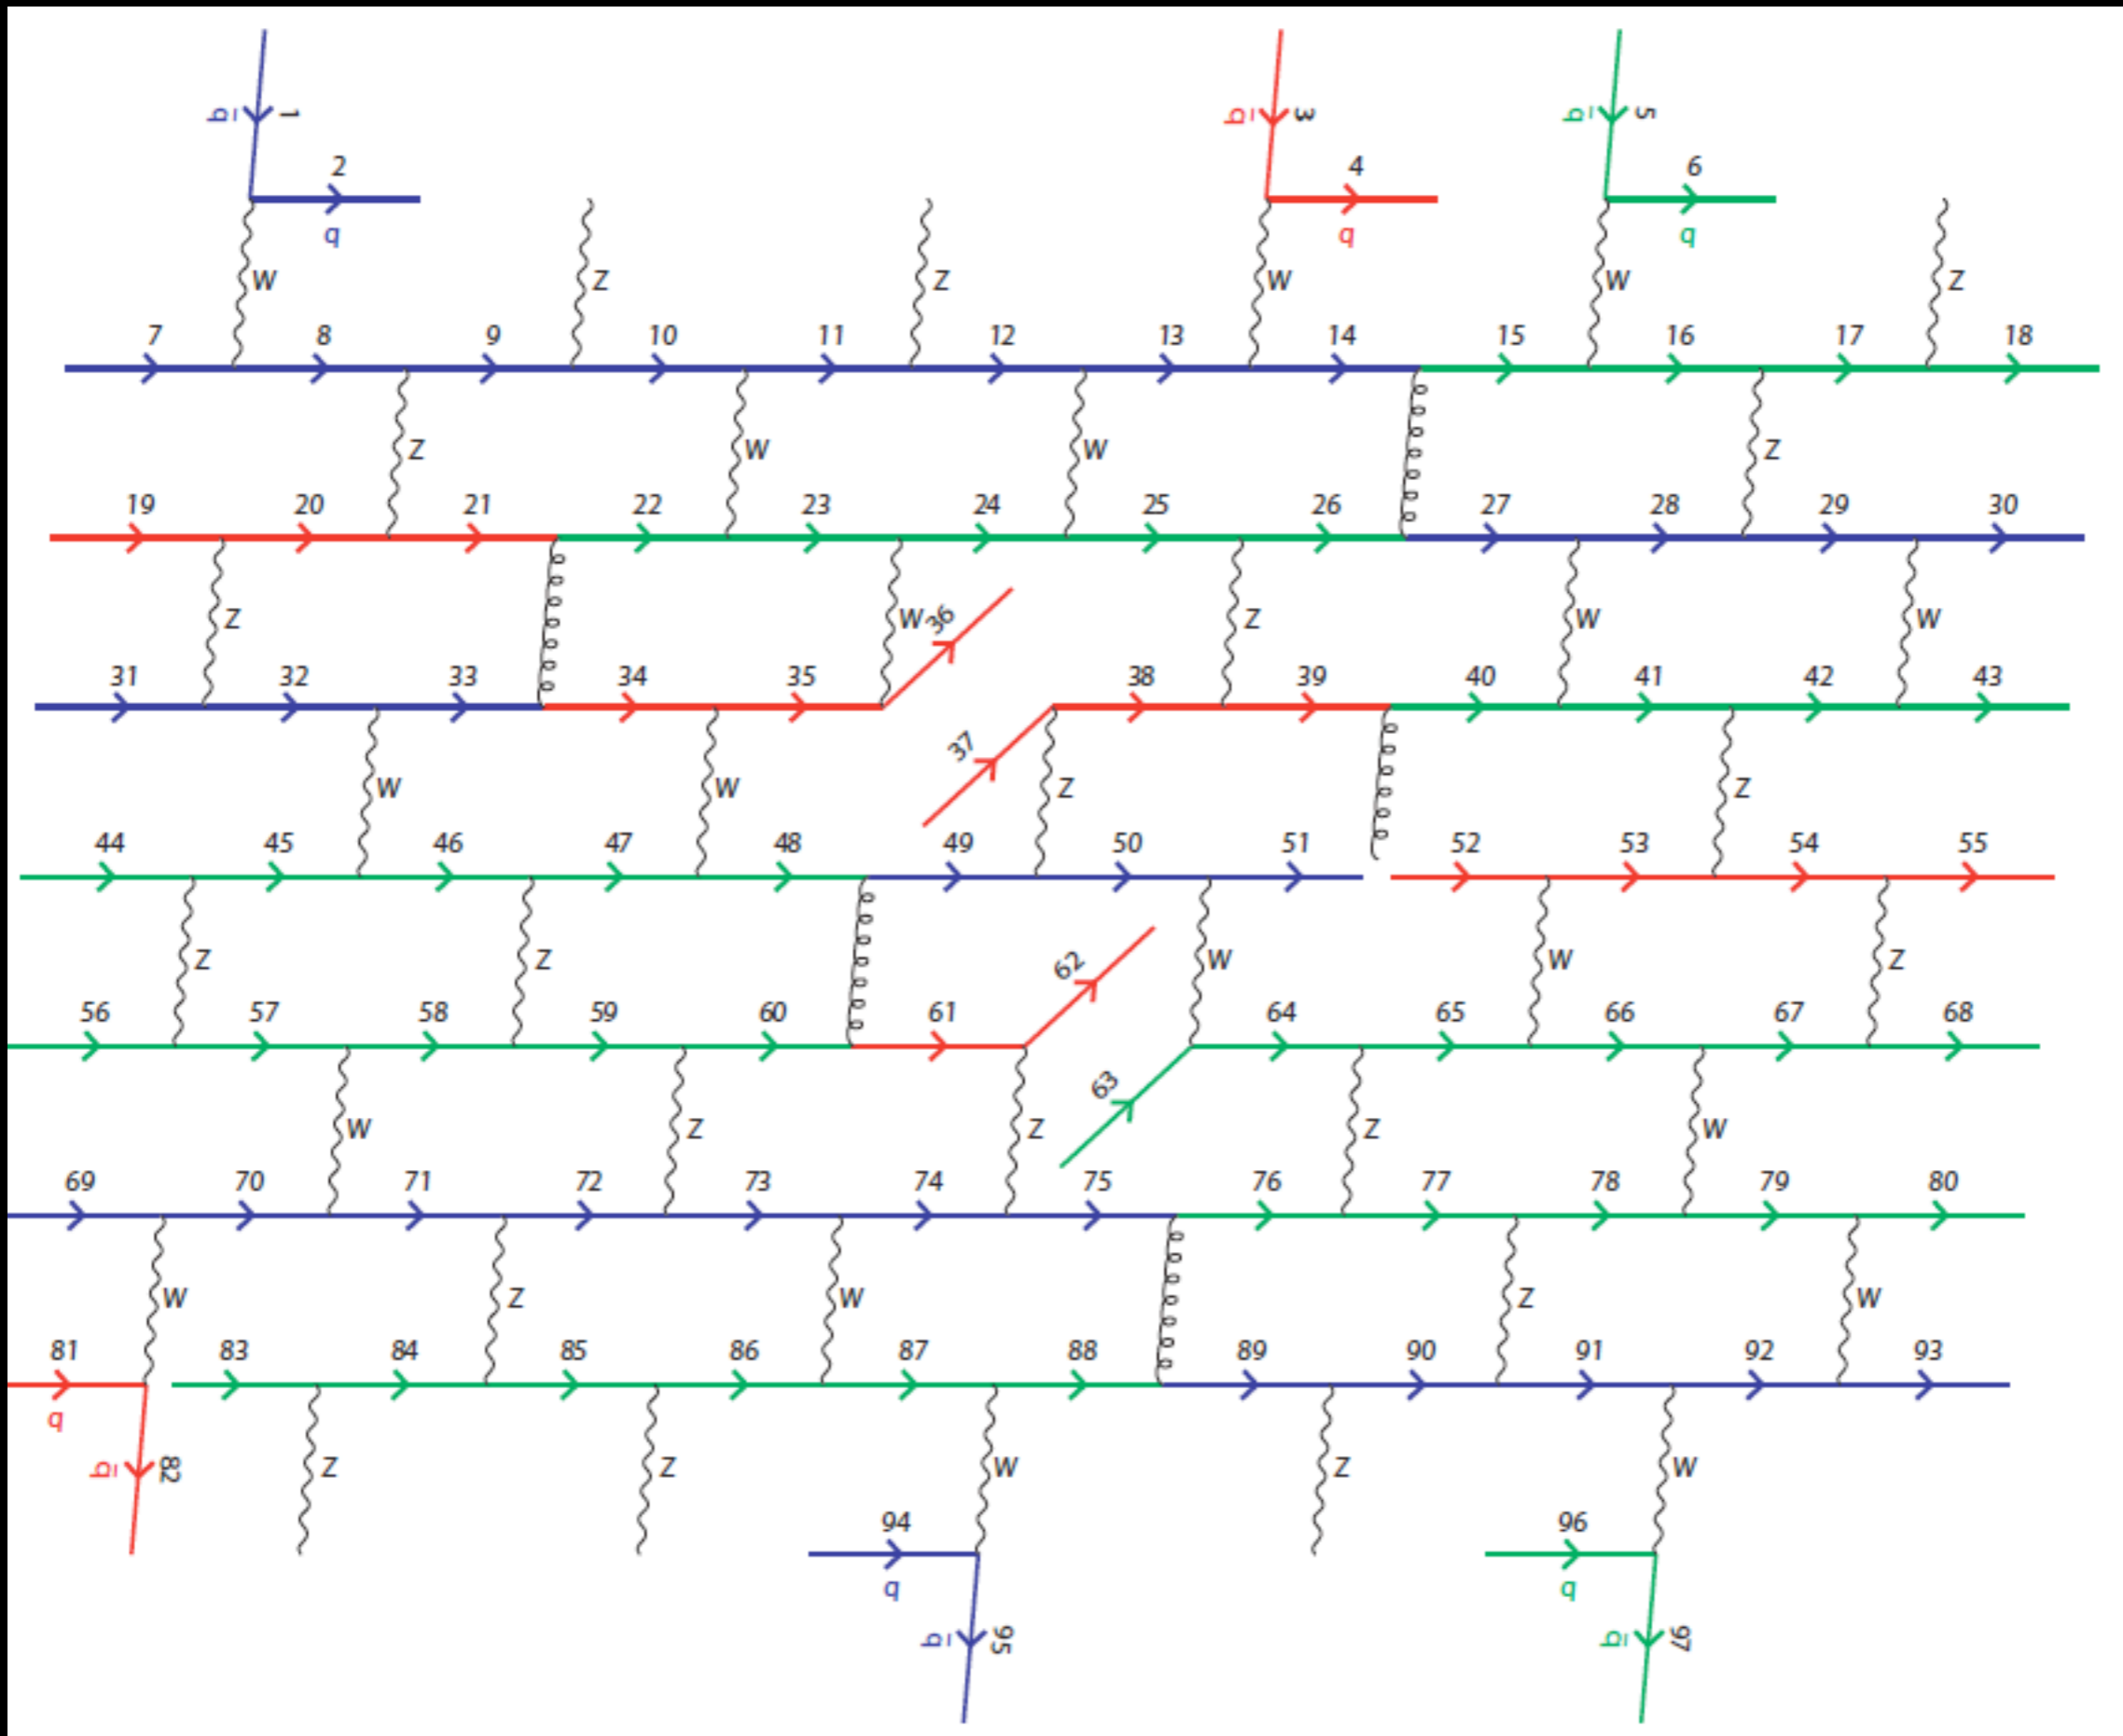

- Have fun.
- Let us know if you stop having fun.

THE TAO OF ROARK: A LOVE SONG TO LIFE ON EARTH

REVIEW BY KURT KEEFNER

4 comments »

Do you enjoy learning from The Fountainhead? Now you can glean even more. In The Tao of Roark, Peter Saint-Andre explores key personal growth themes from Ayn Rand's novel — themes immediately relevant to living the good life — with unusual insight and wisdom. This book honors, above all, the sacred fire of individuality. There's just one catch: The book uses unusual means to achieve its unusual effects. READ MORE »
