

A black and white historical photograph showing a man, identified as Fritz Zwicky, operating a large astronomical telescope. He is seated in a wooden chair, facing a massive cylindrical telescope mounted on a heavy-duty metal tripod. The telescope has various optical components and mechanical parts visible. The background is dark, suggesting an outdoor observatory at night.

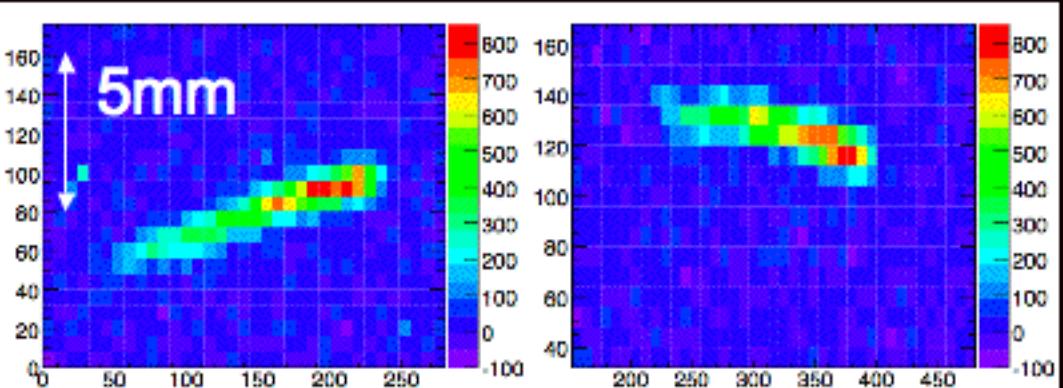

Fritz Zwicky at the 18 inch Schmidt Refractor

Vera Rubin at an astronomical encoder

neutrons

