

Overview

MIT Medical has been serving members of the MIT community and their families for more than 100 years. Today, we offer a single, centralized source for all your health care needs, including comprehensive health insurance, care and treatment at our own medical centers, and an extensive roster of health promotion programs.

Students, affiliates, staff, faculty, and post-doctoral fellows all have convenient, on-campus access to a broad range of clinical services and medical specialties, each delivered by highly qualified physicians, nurse practitioners, psychologists, physician assistants, social workers, and other health care professionals.

Our staff's involvement in campus life makes it possible to offer highly personalized health care, continually informed by issues unique to the MIT community. And through our affiliations with Boston's leading hospitals, clinicians are able to refer patients with more serious conditions to the best specialists available.

Over the years, we've found that flexible health plans, personal care, and our own expert medical staff are essential to keeping the people around us in good health. It's a vision of all-inclusive health care made possible by our long history of designing services exclusively for the MIT community.
